INTRODUCTION.

The person who made the collection of ancient and modern coins and medals in the cases numbered from one to twenty-eight inclusive, in the following catalogue, is Dr. Charles Spiers, a resident of California since 1849, and recently elected a member of the Society of California Pioneers. He is now in his seventy-seventh year, and has been a coin collector since he was fourteen years of age. With him it has been a labor of love. He was born and reared in Virginia, and from his boyhood has taken a deep interest in the collection of rare and curious coins. Whenever a specimen came into his hands it incited a desire to study the history of the period and visit the country where it was coined. In pursuit of this pleasure he has visited, in the last forty years, nearly all the European governments, and also China, Japan, Australia, Central and South America—in fact, almost every country which can boast of a metallic currency as a representative of its civilization.

We know that coins have been for nearly three thousand years the representatives of certain values and the medium of exchange between different nations; that medals, for the same length of time, have been the emblems issued by different governments and various authorities, to commemorate some important event in history or to ennoble and perpetuate acts of daring, courage and humanity. The study of these coins and medals is the study of ancient and modern history. They bring us in contact with the prominent rulers of the world, and show us the rise and fall of kingdoms and empires, of liberal and despotic governments, in the progress of numismatic science. Hence the Doctor has become not only an extensive traveler, in the pursuit of rare and curious coins, but also an exact historian; and in these silent metallic emblems he cannot only scan the present, but

"Read the long records of a distant age."

Like all men who make some subject a specialty of their lives, Doctor Spiers is an enthusiast upon this subject of specimen coin collection, and, from having been so long engaged in it, has grown to be an unsurpassed expert. Thus we have surety that every coin mentioned in this catalogue is just as represented. They were not collected for sale or speculation.

In addition to the European and American coinage of intermediate and modern civilization, are specimens of ancient Phœnicia, Persia, Assyria, Greece, Egypt, Judea, Rome, Carthage, of the Saracenic empire, and of the more eastern Asiatics, including those seemingly ever living nations, China and Japan.

The following catalogue was prepared by Dr. Spiers, and differs, in some particulars, from the usual methods of cataloguing coins. They are not classified in the old style, but placed in glass-covered cases, on black velvet ground, according to size, without regard to nationality or date, so as to preserve a uniformity in the cases. Each case and coin being numbered, a description will be readily found in the printed list.

The orthography authorized by the government at the time these coins and medals were issued is copied in the catalogue.

Various opinions of coin experts and numismatologists could be adduced as to the value of this collection, but it is considered only necessary to give the opinion of Dr. Linderman, the Director of the United States Mint.

At the request of Wm. S. O'Brien, Esq., on behalf of the committee on coins, Dr. Linderman, while in San Francisco last January, examined this collection, then at Pioneer Hall. The Doctor said that "he had seen the numismatic collections in the mints and museums of Paris and London, and was familiar with the extensive collection in the Philadelphia Mint; but he pronounced this collection as surpassing, in rarity, antiqueness, and beauty of specimens, any collection he had ever seen. He expressed the opinion that such a rare and valuable collection ought to be secured by the United States Government, and placed in the mint at San Francisco, as this establishment is now one of the most important in the world."

The appreciation in the value of coins is one of the most singular features in history. Why should a silver coin that is known to be worth only one hundred cents in copper, sell for a hundred or a thousand times its intrinsic value? For example, case number 28 contains 52 silver dollars, representing every coinage of the silver dollar by our Government since 1794 to the present time. The coinage of 1804 is the rarest and most valuable. The coin quotation sales show that this dollar has sold at auction at five different times within the last sixteen years at prices as follows: $325, $440, $860, $700, and $1,400.

Nearly every government in Europe and Asia has a collection of coins.

Our Government has no collection at Washington City. There are many private collections in the United States, and this one made by Dr. Spiers is considered one of the best and most desirable. It is the result of a lifetime of labor and travel.

The Doctor has transferred this collection to the Pioneers, considering the transfer entirely in the nature of a donation.

Knowing that Pioneer Hall is not fire-proof, the Committee on Coins, pursuant to instructions from the Board of Directors, obtained permission from General La Grange, the present Superintendent of the United States Mint in this city, to deposit this collection temporarily in the mint for safe keeping. A room was very kindly appropriated for their use, where they can be seen by the Pioneers and the public during office hours.

The coins in the cases numbered from 29 to 36 inclusive, belonged to the Pioneers before the acquisition of the Spiers collection.

By order of the Society of California Pioneers.
